

THE EVENING CRITIC.
ESTABLISHED AUGUST 1868.AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.
SUMMER THEATRE COMIQUE-VARIETY.
DRIVERS' SUMMER GARDEN—COMIQUE.
AMERICAN SUMMER GARDEN—COMIQUE.Weather Indications.
For New England and the Middle Atlantic States, generally fair weather, except possible local rains near the coast, easterly winds, stationary or higher barometer and temperature.Special Weather Bulletin.
The special bulletin issued from the signal office to-day says: The indications are that fair weather will prevail in the upper lake region in Tennessee and the Ohio valley to-day and to-morrow.The Critic in Georgetown.
Copies of THE EVENING CRITIC may be had and subscriptions left at E. K. Lundy's book and stationery store, 125 Bridge street, Georgetown.PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS
About People and Things in Washington.

Go To Driver's garden.

Visit Abner's, on E street.

The Comique offers a splendid Saturday night bill.

"AIRY FAIRY" cigarettes are not injurious to your health. Call for them.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY CONKILL will return to the city from Cape May on Monday next.

MARY DELANEY, a helpless old imbecile white woman, was taken to St. Elizabeth's last evening.

The Police Court to-day was occupied with unimportant cases and did not hold a session of over an hour.

THE FIRE CALENDAR for July shows but five fires during the month. The total damage was $4,000. Insurance not yet reported.

CAPT. CHARLES ENTWISLE, of this city, has been appointed captain of the ferry steamer City of Alexandria, in place of Capt. Ephraim Chesire, who resigned.

MR. A. R. SEARLE, bailiff of the Criminal Court, will leave this evening for New York city and Niagara Falls, to be absent about a month.

To-day was a field day for the Pompano, and the list of animals caught shows a horse, twenty-four geese and twenty-eight dogs.

THE corner-stone of "The Tabernacle," on Ninth street, between B street and Virginia avenue, will be laid Monday evening, August 1, at 6 p. m.

MR. PADGETT, the prosecuting attorney for the District at the Police Court, will be absent from the court about two weeks, and attorney Edwin Forrest will take his place.

A DELIGHTFUL select family excursion to Piney Point on the steamer Excelsior will be given to-morrow. The boat leaves Seventh-street wharf at 8:30 a. m., arriving home at 10:30 p. m.

The steamer Corcoran will make her usual Saturday evening trip this evening, at 6 p. m., and on Sunday at 3 p. m. These are pleasant trips, and should be attended by all who can go.

IN THE divorce suit of Sarah R. Nicholson vs. Robert J. Nicholson, the defendant to-day filed his answer, stating his absolute inability to pay the alimony, counsel fees, etc., ordered by the Court.

The steamer Mary Washington will make a regular Sunday trip to Oceanic Falls to-morrow morning, leaving her wharf at 9:30 a. m., returning at 7 p. m.; only twenty-five cents for the round trip.

GRAVE fears have been roused for the safety of Jennie Washington and Lucinda Branson, two colored girls of 4 and 5 years of age, who have been missing from 1218 Twenty-third street since last Thursday morning.

A WHITE FEMALE INFANT, was left last night at the gate of St. Ann's Infant Asylum, with a note to the Sisters to "name the baby Mary Rebecca," and oblige an unfortunate and afflicted mother. The child will receive kind attention.

THE commodious and elegant steamer John W. Thompson, commenced her regular daily trip to Lower Cedar Point this morning, and will make a trip to-morrow. If you wish to spend a pleasant Sunday, take the Thompson to-morrow morning at 8 a. m.

HENRY NASH, a middle-aged white man, died suddenly last evening at his home in Linville Alley, between Second and Third and C and D streets northeast. The coroner made an examination to-day, and announced the cause of death to be apoplexy.

THE TEMPERANCE FOLKS had a lively time last night. Meetings were held by Equal Division at Odson Hall and at Bud Eggleston's tent. Many new signers were secured at each place. To-morrow evening at the tent, Rev. P. H. Burghard will speak. Subject: "Is the Bible True?"

JUDGE SNELL this evening will leave for Waterville, Me., one of the pleasantest towns of the State, on the upper Kennebec River, to rusticate until about the first week in September. Judge Snell has lately won hosts of friends in the District, and it is to be hoped that he will return as fresh and as brown as a berry.

J. F. ELLIS &amp; Co. have published the following new compositions: "National Rifle Quickstep," by James W. Flood; "The Patria March," by Gohbaerts; "Slumber Song" (instrumental), by Wm. Walckede; and "Pretty Patty Honeywood," a beautiful song, the words by Cuthbert Bode and the music by Prof. John P. Sousa, the well-known leader of the Marine Band.

THE STEAMER MORSELEY goes down the river this evening on an excursion to the Capes and Norfolk. It is under the management of Mr. Randall, a sufficient guarantee that everything will be conducted in the highest style of art. It is already a great success, as all the staterooms have been engaged, but it should not be a good citizen who wants some breeze from buying tickets. The rates are moderate and everything will be done to secure the comfort of the guests.

The regular weekly military rifle match was shot at Denning's yesterday afternoon. There were twelve entries and ten re-entries. The following are the scores above 24: Abner, 30; Lieut. Rose, 29; Lieut. Miller, 28; Oyster and Mr. Bell, 23 each; Messrs. Cash, Johnstone and Wanstall, 27 each; Mr. Hartell, 26. Of the re-entries the scores were: Miller, 31; Johnstone, 30; Cash, 29; Bell, 27; Williams, 27; Oyster, 25; Rose, 25. Lieut. Miller took first prize on his second score, and Mr. Abner second, his being better than Mr. Johnstone's, under the rules.

A Sample of Star-Route Reform.

Those having friends and relatives temporarily enjoining at Colton's, River Springs, Piney Point and Blackstone's Island, Md., in addressing their correspondence should include in the address the name of the nearest post-office, which is Milestown, Md. Matter for "Marshalls" should invariably be addressed to Piney Point, Md.

This change in the course of forwarding mail for those places has been made necessary by reason of discontinuance of same by steamer.

As there are a large number of people at the resorts along the river, and as there is no possible communication by mail with them, great indignation is expressed by their friends as well as by them at Mr. Postmaster James' cheap reform in cutting off American people from postal communication. This sort of thing would suit Siberia or India, but it must not be permitted in the United States.

INSOLENCE PUNISHED.

An Offensive Would-be-Masher

There is a class of beings—beg pardon—beasts in every well-regulated city who could easily be spared without loss. We refer to that class of men calling themselves gentlemen, who get into public conveyances and stare at young ladies and make themselves generally disagreeable. One of these fellows came to grief yesterday, in the following manner: A party of three young ladies and the same number of gentlemen got into an avenue car just before dark. They were on their way to the Columbia boat-house in Georgetown. The ladies were handsome rowing jackets, and presented a very beautiful appearance. They were no sooner seated than a tall, flashy dressed fellow got into the car and took a seat opposite them. He sat once began to stare in an insolent manner at the young ladies, and, turning to a gentleman who sat next to him, said: "I wonder who those girls are," in a voice loud enough to be heard all over the car. One of the gentlemen with the ladies instantly arose, and catching the insolent by his long, flowing mustache, dragged him to the platform, and kicked him off the car. Everybody admitted that the fellow had got his just deserts.

The Commercial Traveler Question.

In answer to the petition signed by New York and Baltimore business men, protesting against the law compelling commercial travelers from other cities to pay a license tax in the District, a counter petition is in course of preparation, the signers of which are prominent business men of the District, and which earnestly requests the continuance of existing laws.

Henry Ruff, an employee of the License Board, made the following statement to-day to a Critic reporter: "Among the greatest evils of the system of allowing commercial agents to carry trade out of the District is this: The agent pays no taxes whatever, and can undersell the merchants who labor under heavy taxes imposed by the District, and so the competition is not fair and equal. I have known a case where drummers have solicited such jobs as supplying the whole force of waiters of one of our largest hotels with uniforms, and I have known others who, by getting orders in one of the Departments from nearly every clerk for small quantities of dry-goods. The moment we decrease or abolish the license tax imposed on persons soliciting orders for merchandise, the District will lose an annual revenue of $38,000, and the business men will have no means of doing away with the work of their hands yearly and made taken of other cities who can afford to furnish the goods at cheaper rates."

One of our most prominent commission merchants stated yesterday that if the law taxing drummers was repealed he would move to Bladensburg, and do business there without the payment of any tax, and he would save money, even after paying the expense of transporting his goods by rail or wagon from Bladensburg to his customers in Washington.

Picnic of the Clan-na-Gael.

The Association of the Clan-na-Gael gave their annual picnic at Beyer's Park on Wednesday. Many distinguished citizens were present. The games, plays and favorite amusements of dear old Ireland were re-enacted, and with much amusement. Mr. Fogarty, an athlete of much renown, was the lion of the day. Much hilarity was created by the play, "The Tug of War," in which citizens from the East versus the West contended. The exercises were pleasantly interspersed with speaking. Col. Condon, the Irish patriot, made a few happy remarks, and Dr. O'Connell reverted to the cause of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and at the head of their respective professions, whether as statesmen, poets, orators or soldiers. He referred to the names of Ireland and her wrongs, and he said, in conclusion, that Irishmen are found, the wide world over, ornaments in every walk and station of life, and